DENISON, GRAYSON COUNTY, TEX., Oct.

20.—Early this morning a south bound freight train on the Houston and Texas

Ceatral railway ran over and killed an un-known man two miles south of the city. The man was evidently drunk and had lain down on the track to sleep. It was one of the most horrible sights the eye ever gazed on. Fragments of the body were strewn on the rails and ties for a distance of 200 yards. What remained of the body was shoveled up and carried to the city in a box. A butle of whisky and a memoran-

box. A bottle of whisky and a memoran dum book were found. In the latter were scrawled the words and letters "J. W. Boyle, 45 C. A." There is no clew to show who he was. He was evidently thirty-five
